

Training course for youth workers:

“Why So Radical?”

Preventing youth radicalization through historic- civic education

Vukovar, Croatia – 21/27 June 2022

TRAINING DESCRIPTION

The training “Why so radical?” deals with the issue of growing radicalization among European youth. In the training, we would like to use the word radicalization as an umbrella term, gathering different dimensions connected to the issue as hate speech, intolerance, revisionism and trivialization, racism and xenophobia, and discrimination based on perceived different ethnic belongings or sexual orientations.

During the training course, 26 youth workers will learn new non-formal methods, exchange good practices and acquire new skills from the historic and civic education fields, which will help them to deal with young people prone to radicalization in their local communities. The participants will discuss how to understand and explain complex processes and their causes and consequences to young people, improve critical thinking and active learning, introduce concepts as multiperspectivity, tolerance, and dialogue.

The training will take place from the 21st to the 27th of June 2022 in Vukovar, Croatia. Vukovar is a city in the eastern part of Croatia, whose population has been dramatically hurt during the war of the 1990s. Despite still being the scenario of divisions and confrontations, Vukovar is today also a stage for positive steps toward the research of a common dialogue and examples of good practices.

You can join the training course if:

- you are a youth worker, educator, or have an interest in youth work;
- you are over 18;
- if you are a national or are currently living in one of the following countries: Croatia, Greece, Italy, Slovenia, or Portugal.
